VidaBox Integrates Seamlessly with Crestron[®], AMX[®], & other control systems with new vCommand[™] Software Modules

WESTBURY, NY – OCTOBER 18th – VidaBox LLC introduces the new vCommand[™] software module, which allows easy, seamless integration with Crestron[®], AMX[®], HAI[®], and other TCP/IP & RS-232 control systems.

“One of the most common questions asked is ‘How does VidaBox integrate with my Crestron[®] or AMX[®] system?’” says Steven Cheung, a co-founder of VidaBox. “Now, we have an easy, ready-to-go package for A/V integrators that minimizes installation and setup time by preloading it onto any VidaBox system.”

vCommand[™] comes standard with an intuitive, graphics-rich interface for AMX[®] and Crestron[®] systems in the form of Netlinx Modules w. TP4 Files and SIMPL Control Modules w. VT-Pro files. It'll provide control systems with real time transport feedback and meta-data for music, video, DVD, and television media such as album, artist, title, duration, genre, release date, composer, chapter, director, rating, channel/station ID, program guide title, and more.

“For those who want to go above and beyond the standard templates, vCommand[™] also includes a software development API with detailed protocol document,” Cheung says. “With these tools, programmers can customize their own software for any integration need.”
