VidaBox now offers pre-packaged whole house audio solutions complete with multi-room distribution systems

Las Vegas, NV – CES 2009 – January 9-11 – Hilton Suite H22-121 – VidaBox LLC, a manufacturer of digital entertainment and control solutions, is proud to offer complete whole house audio packages. Based on the VidaBox line of multiroom audio servers, these packages include NuVo® multiroom distribution and amplification equipment.

"These new packages are a natural progression of delivering new features and better value for our dealer base," states Steven Cheung, President of VidaBox LLC. "Most of our integrators are already using NuVo® and Russound® in their multiroom audio installs. However, many of them shy away from adding a VidaBox audio server into the mix because of the learning curve, even if it means having new features like internet radio, sleep/wake functions, or whole house audio control from a single TouchClient™ or vPad™ touch panel. By marrying the two as a complete solution, dealers can get a single package that eliminates setup and installation headaches, since VidaBox takes care of all of the configuration work at the factory."

A typical package consists of a pre-configured RoomClient™ or SLIM™ VidaBox audio server, and a NuVo® Grand Concerto® with six keypads. Options for touch panel controls, additional keypads, dual AM/FM/XM tuners, or using an Essentia® or Simplese® in place of the Concerto® are available as well. Working with an integrator, VidaBox can custom design a complete audio package based on the number of sources, zones, and the type of controls desired.

"By ordering everything from VidaBox," continues Cheung, "dealers enjoy a significant savings in time and effort, leading to higher profit. To make things even easier, we'll also configure, group, and add in the names of zones appropriately, as requested by the dealer. With the entire configuration and proper pre-wire done ahead of time, everything from the first touch panel to the last keypad is ready to go – out-of-the-box. Complete installations with a VidaBox solution take a fraction of the time, plus all of the added features and benefits not available elsewhere."

Complete VidaBox audio packages are available now. For more details and specifications on their audio server solutions and other digital entertainment and control solutions, please visit the company website at <http://www.vidabox.com>, or see them at International CES in Hilton Suite H22-121!
