VidaBox TouchClient20™ Touch Screen TV Integrates HD Satellite,
HD Cable, & FIOS TV into Media Center in a Single, VESA-mountable package

Garden City Park, NY – November 30th – VidaBox, LLC, the leading manufacturer of media centers, audio servers, and customizable touch screen controls, is proud to announce the TouchClient20, a widescreen touch panel TV w. built-in media center & HDTV input support. This VESA-mountable TV starts at $3199, includes a built-in DVD player that is upgradable to Blu-ray, and is natively compatible w. VidaBox servers for streaming movies, pictures, music, TV, and other multimedia content.

"The TouchClient20 is the perfect standalone media center or extender for a many limited space scenarios," exclaims Steven Cheung, President of VidaBox, LLC. "With a single integrated system, you can enjoy HDTV from satellite, cable, or FIOS set-top boxes from its HDMI input, or switch over to media center to watch or archive a Blu-ray or DVD, stream from Netflix, listen to music, look at pictures, or watch IPTV. Combined with its 20" touch screen, the convenience that TouchClient20 provides is unparalleled."

Users can walk up to this TV and the control Media Center interface directly via its touch screen. Its touch-friendly interface allows one to quickly browse through and search movies or music by cover art, and start playback. At the same time, the TouchClient20™ has an optional media center remote, or it can be substituted by any number of 3rd party remotes or control systems. It also features a SPDIF optical output, providing support for 5.1 Dolby Digital & DTS when paired up with a surround sound receiver. Its compact form factor and long feature list makes it ideal for bedrooms, kitchens, dorms, and guestrooms.

"This system is also perfect for dealers looking to get a demo piece for their showroom," continues Cheung. "Most customers love having touch screens on their phones, and the TouchClient20™ is a great way for dealers to catch someone's attention and show them the myriad of features one has access to – all at their fingertips. Best of all, this entire system runs on less than 100W of energy nominal, making it very green to operate."

The new VidaBox TouchClient20™ is shipping and available now. For more details on this new & other VidaBox media centers, audio servers, touch screens, or other entertainment and control solutions, please visit the company website at <http://www.vidabox.com>, or call 516-730-7500.
